SOME NOTES FROM KEN LEDWARD — EVENT ORGANISER

A combination of alternating clear skies with high level cloud helped make this years event very interesting for the navigator: An inspection of the inter-checkpoint times makes most interesting reading. The most accurate recording done by the Members of the Backpackers Club has provided a very comprehensive picture for us all.

I'm asked always about the most impressive performance of the event: It's very difficult to be objective; efforts made by some of the later finishers can often merit most praise, and some of the problems competitors overcome during the 2 days will never be known to us; either because of their modesty, or even, maybe, the fact that their problem was a self-inflicted navigation boob? I do know of some very experienced competitors who copied the wrong checkpoint onto their map; checked in at the wrong class checkpoint: And in the Klets Class there are stories of competitors overtaking a roped pair of climbers while searching for a Klets Checkpoint! Derek Radcliffe has now exceeded the hat-trick of wins in the Klets Class, although this year is the first time he didn't make the main mid-camp on day one. Who would have anticipated in the early days of this event that a mixed couple would be overall winners in the tough Bowfell Class? Just look at the steady improvement over the years of all the lady competitors, throughout the results there is a marked improvement for ladies and mixed teams. Incidentally: The heaviest sac (14lb) in the Klets Class was carried by the only lady competitor, and Sue was 4th overall. Way down the finishing lists are names I've come to know well: Their performance is for them a competition with the course planner, the terrain, and the weather; and regrettably sometimes, their equipment. The satisfaction of knowing you did your best on that particular day must be sufficient reward; after my years as a competitor and an organiser, I certainly acknowledge that fact. If for some failure in fitness etc. you didn't complete the event, or if only one of the team 'failed' in some respect; and even the most expert in this type of event have suffered similar fates; determine to get it together for next year: You may be competing against the writer.

I regret we are unable to award certificates to incomplete teams, and might I explain here that the system of not permitting a team to split is more for the safety of the one who wishes to continue on their own, than it is for the retired member. In this event we have always tried to link part-retired teams and you will see from the results that Ron Kenyon and his team have provided joint times in these cases.

I am to now set about the task of establishing a new event organising team, offers of assistance direct to me please, preferably from Lakeland Residents. I cannot hand over without acknowledging the support given over the eight years by Bob and Joan Saunders who take-on all the main administration. Jim Garnett has been our entries Secretary since the inaugural event at Ambleside 9 years ago, and thankfully is to continue. Ron Kenyon has been a stalwart at timekeeping, regrettably his rock-climbing activity (see new Borrowdale Guide) will prevent him from continuing with our event. Les Ashcroft, who has recced and set up the main camps and mid-camps for us is to become a competitor, and there'll be many among you who hope he and his partner have a terrible time in the '87 event. Tom Pape has established a fine team of checkpoint marshalls and the results of his labours can be witnessed in the thoroughly accurate time recording at checkpoints. Others who regularly turn-to and work to assist the event: Margery and Brian Jones with their now famous chuck-wagon, Jason Pratt who monitors the Klets Class, Kevin Boal who seems to need no sleep — see arrival times on day one at mid-camp. Then we have the group of tall men from the city, who usually are coping with a higher life than roughing-it in the hills: Tony, Jimmy, Paul, Graham, thanks for your assistance at placing markers with Chris Bland and Peter Parkins. And, of course to Liz my thanks for your ever-constant support during the overall preparation of the event.

You can gather about you the finest organising team in Britain, but it is of no avail if the local community isn't going to co-operate. Once, I had — what I thought — an excellent venue, mid-camp, and routes. Out of 22 permissions obtained, one refusal from a private land agent, who said his 'owner' did not agree with tents littering the hillside, sent me back to the drawing board. It is therefore with grateful thanks I record the events appreciation to those farmers on whose land we passed, and to the personnel involved in the facilities afforded us at Rosthwaite and at Ennerdale. At 2100hrs on Monday 14th July 1986, there was no litter at all in the main camps at Rosthwaite and at Ennerdale, and I have spoken with local residents who suffered no inconvenience. Therefore, my thanks to all competitors and helpers for a most successful weekend.

Best wishes to you all,

KEN LEDWARD
Event Organiser

BRITAIN'S RAINING CHAMPION?

THE infuriating, unpredictable British climate catches everybody out, none more so than the walker, rambler or hiker. When you're out in the open, vulnerable to the most chilling winds and driving rain you need Cyclone protection.

Cyclone's specially developed coating is both waterproof and moisture vapour permeable, keeping the rain out at the same time as it lets perspiration escape.

That leaves you warm, dry, and comfortable. Cyclone is perfect for all outdoor sports enthusiasts, it lets you do what you want to do, just when you want to do it.

With such outstanding protection against the elements, bad weather can literally take a hike.
